CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,
Seventh Ohio District

War continued to hold the center of the stage in Washington during the past week. As the story began to unfold as to the actual happenings in Norway at the time of the German invasion, government leaders became more concerned over the general outlook than ever before. That the European conflict will spread to other continents and involve many countries, every small neutral country in Europe is in danger. However, the biggest question mark in Europe today is Italy. Confidential reports lead Washington to believe that Italy is preparing to cast her lot with Germany and will probably be in the war within the next thirty to sixty days, with a possibility that entry may come much earlier. The only thing that will prevent Italy's entrance into the war on the side of Germany is said, is a quick and impressive victory for Great Britain in Norway.

In giving consideration to the different phases of the European war now going on it must not be overlooked that in the last World War both Russia and Italy fought on the side of Great Britain and France against Germany and Austria-Hungary. Today both are more friendly to Germany than to the Allies, and may come in on the German side at almost any time. Today Germany includes most of the territory and population that made up the old Austria-Hungary as well as much of Poland. Germany has between eight and nine million men under arms. France has over five million mobilized, and England two and a half million. Italy today has approximately two and a half million men ready for action and Russia has a present-day army of better than five million. Rumania has a present fighting force of one million men. The United States has less than five hundred thousand men in the Army and Navy combined, and less than four hundred thousand men in the National Guard.

High Navy officials are demanding of Congress the enactment of a three billion dollar naval building program, and are insisting that the naval strength of the United States must be increased by at least twenty-five percent in order to bring the American Fleet up to proper strength. There are many in Congress, however, who feel that before the already heavy warship building schedule is materially enlarged exact information should be obtained as to what actually occurred in the naval and air battles in Scandinavian waters during the past two weeks. Why build battleships at a cost of fifty to a hundred million dollars each in recent happenings proved airplanes are superior as fighting machines? Many believe that an increase in our air force is needed much more than an increase in naval power. However, the "big navy" forces are strong and final action on the Navy Department's request will depend upon future developments.

The Logan-Walter Bill, giving the right of appeal to the courts from rulings, decisions and actions of governmental bureaus, commissions, agencies, passed the House late last week after a four day parliamentary battle. Students of government contend that the bill is one of the most important measures that has been before Congress for a long time and goes far toward restoring the rights of individual citizens in extending them protection against the arbitrary actions of the bureaucracy that has been growing rapidly in recent years. The passage of the bill by a vote of 282 to 97 was a crushing defeat for Administrative forces. New Deal leaders both in and out of Congress used every bit of influence and power possible to defeat the measure. However, the people back home—the general public—wanted the measure passed and the House acted accordingly.

The Daughters of the American Revolution took possession of Washington last week in full force with their annual convention being held at both the Constitution and Continental Hall. Representing the best of American womanhood, this fine patriotic organization gave full consideration to national and international happenings and stated frankly and firmly the patriotic objectives which their organization will work in the future. Those in attendance came from every city, town and hamlet in the United States.

Congressional fire was aroused last week when it was discovered that Governor Black of the Farm Credit Administration and Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture had sent out, at government expense, let-

Oldest Hotel In Ohio Will Celebrate Satur.; Gov. Bricker To Speak

The oldest hotel in Ohio will be honored Saturday when the Daughters of the American Revolution, Turtle Creek Chapter, unveil a bronze plaque designating the Golden Lamb, Lebanon, as the oldest hotel in the state. The inn dates back to 1815 without interruption. Mrs. William Mason Phillips will represent the D. A. R. and the bronze tablet will be unveiled by little Joan Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, present proprietors. The hotel was opened in 1815, a four story structure that has been operated under various names for the 125 years it has been open to the public. It was first known as the Lebanon House and later "At the Sign of the Golden Lamb". Ten years ago Mr. Jones re-christened it "The Golden Lamb".

The tavern has had many noted guests and many of the rooms have names of some of the nation's leaders during the early history of the country. Among those who have stopped with the tavern include Henry Clay, Governor Dewitt Clinton, John Q. Adams, Martin Van Buren, Governor William Henry Harrison and Charles Dickens, along with many prominent army officers of the Civil War. Host Jones will entertain a number of newspaper publishers in this section Friday evening. The program on Saturday will include Gov. John W. Bricker and former Governor Myers J. Cooper. The program will be broadcast over station WING, Dayton.

WHITE'S NOMINATION

The Cleveland Plain Dealer last Friday predicted the nomination of Dudley White as the Republican nominee for senator over Mayor Harold H. Burton of that city. MADISON COUNTY FARMER

LOSES IN HIGH COURT

The Supreme Court held Carl Byerly is not entitled to seek a composition or extension of time to pay in debtors' case. A federal district court decision had awarded title to the Union Joint Stock Land bank of Detroit. Justice Roberts delivered the decision that reversed a ruling in favor of Byerly by the sixth federal circuit court. Justices Black, Douglas and Murphy dissented. An interpretation of the Frazier-Lampke farm mortgage foreclosure law was involved. Representative Lemke of North Dakota, co-author of the measure, represented Byerly in the litigation.

The boys have planned a fish fry for Saturday morning, May 4.

Rain Gave Ground

Good Soaking

The heavy rain last Friday and Saturday, with a dash of snow on the latter, covered the state with a rain such as we have not had for months. It is thought the ground now has sufficient moisture to insure early crops as soon as the ground is warm enough. According to the Columbus weather bureau, Ohio has had 6.5 inches of rain for April.

The Ohio river passed the flood stage at Cincinnati with sixty feet. Back water stopped baseball at Crosley field. This will mean several double-headers later in the season.

Rev. Ashbrook Quits

Rev. William E. Ashbrook has severed his connection with Glen Echo United Presbyterian church at Cliffside drive and Calumet street and plans to found a new independent fundamental church in the very near future.

To Found Own Church

This action comes as the result of differences in point of view between him and the commission of the local presbytery over administration of his church, it was reported. Rev. Mr. Ashbrook will preach his last sermon in Glen Echo church Sunday morning and the 114 members who have indicated their intention, in writing of withdrawing and assisting in the founding of the new church, will be giving their dismissal.

Temporary quarters for the new congregation have been secured at Medway Avenue elementary school building. First services there will be held Sunday, May 5.—Columbus Dispatch.

Sow's Litter Of 29 Pigs Called World's Record

TROY—Bert Estey, a farmer living south of here, claimed that a new world record was set on his farm Saturday when a Poland China sow gave birth to a litter of 29 pigs. Estey said his sow smashed the previous record of a 24-pig litter and had a margin of three pigs to spare. County Agricultural Agent O. D. Sand inspected the litter and said all pigs were in perfect condition.

Cow-Testing By Local Ag. Boys

A cow-testing service instituted last winter by the vocational-agricultural department of Cedarville High School is proving to some dairymen in this vicinity that they have many "star boarders" in their herds. The testing service, which now covers nine herds with a total of 70 cows, was started mainly for the purpose of acquainting the pupils of the "ag" department with the technique of cow testing and dairy feeding. Complete records are kept of each cow in relation to milk production, butterfat test, and feed cost.

With the service, only four months old, some cows, heretofore considered good producers, are exposed as "grands" when their milk is tested for butterfat content and their feed-consumption computed.

State Tests New Highway Marking

State route 380, between Xenia and New Burlington, has become a "proving ground" for a new Ohio system of highway pavement marking. In the interest of traffic safety for an estimated 2,000,000 Buckeye motorists, the state highway department contemplates a new system which calls for continuous white or black line marking, instead of the dash line plan used in recent years. It also includes non-passing zones wherever sight distances are less than 600 feet, these zones to be distinguished by a stripe of yellow paint alongside the white and black stripes. The white or black stripes will be four inches in width and the yellow stripes at all non-passing zones will be three inches wide. There will be a three-inch space between the white or black and yellow stripes.

R. G. Matern, maintenance superintendent for the highway department in Greene county, said the New Burlington pike marking is the first of the experimental type, to his knowledge, in the state.

Family Comedy Film To Be Shown Here

The World's Fair in full colors will be viewed on Monday, April 29 & F. M. by the Cedarville Masonic Club, when for the first time in Cedarville, Ohio the Washington technician picture "The Middleton Family at the New York World's Fair" will be shown.

First full-length motion picture to be made at the glamorous New York Fair, "The Middleton Family" describes the adventures of a typical American family.

From the time the Middletons arrive from their Indiana home to see the Fair's wonders, they are in a swirl of breath-taking action most of it caused by the pranks and escapades of 13-year-old Bud, played by James Lydon.

When his big sister's romance seems to be going the wrong way, Bud prepares a deep plot which causes plenty of trouble and keeps the audience on the edge of its seats for an hour of exciting fun. The story is laid at the Westinghouse Building at the World's Fair, said to be one of the most fascinating industrial exhibits, with its mechanical man, Time Capsule, Tower of Light and Playground of Science. Even fun-loving Bud takes a moment to stand something of the new world which science and engineering are creating for Americans.

The picture is for members only.

CONG. DUDLEY WHITE SENATE CANDIDATE

Republicans will be faced with the nomination of a candidate at the coming primary election in May for United States Senator. Two candidates are in the field, Cong. Dudley White, of Norwalk, O., newspaper publisher, and Mayor Burton, of Cleveland.

The issue between these two candidates is plainly outlined in what each has stood for in the way of government in the past. Cong. White comes from a rural county and has a fine record while serving in Congress. He is a conservative and has the views and interests of a majority of the people of the state. He has never given approval of the urban proposal that the cities of the state should control the counties.

Mayor Burton has the city complex. Months ago the Herald took issue with the mayor's demand of Gov. Bricker that he call an immediate session of the state legislature to care for what he termed a critical situation in Cleveland. The Governor did not become stampeded and authorized his own investigation which proved the mayor had greatly magnified the situation. The Governor later had the endorsement of the business and civic organizations in the city. This left the Mayor out on the end of a limb.

Republican voters must choose between the two candidates. The issue is plain. Cong. White is a resident of a rural county and has the viewpoint of the same kind of people we have in Greene county. Mayor Burton has advocated in the past a reduced state legislature with the cities having more representation. He should not have the support of Greene County.

WHEN WILL WE ENTER EUROPEAN WAR?

The question that is uppermost in the minds of the people is, "When Will We Enter the European War?" The average citizen is just as much perplexed as is official Washington. You can ask any member of Congress no matter what the political belief the same question and he will not give you a definite answer because the destiny under the present New Deal authority is invested in one man, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Congress the past seven years gave the Executive so much power this body no longer is certain where its authority starts or ends.

As members discuss this question of record among themselves Democratic members show more concern than do the Republicans for the older members have not yet forgotten the Wilson campaign pledge, "He Kept Us Out of War," and within sixty days after election we plunged in head first.

In view of the attitude of Roosevelt towards England and France and the visit last summer of King George and the Queen, the recent unexplained "fishing trip" in southern waters as to who Roosevelt met representing England, the speech of Ambassador Cromwell in Canada some weeks ago and the visit of Prime Minister MacKenzie to Warm Springs this week, all belie the statement of Roosevelt and his peace program. The off record sentiment in Washington circles where Roosevelt each month demands more money for war supplies, is that we would be directly engaged in the war right now if it were not for the coming Democratic national convention in June in Chicago. Roosevelt's speech Saturday night on the air was a slimy, slippery evasion of what to expect.

It is generally conceded that a vote for Roosevelt or any New Deal candidate, is approval of our entering the war to make good Roosevelt's promise last summer to King George.

"Johnny Apollo"

Not since "Jesse James" has Tyrone Power had a role like that of "Johnny Apollo" in which he is co-starred with Dorothy Lamour at the State Theater, Springfield, Ohio.

Johnny Apollo is the alias of a young college man, a banker's son, who turns mobster when the father he idolized is sent to prison and his wealthy friends turn against him.

Dorothy Lamour is more alluring than ever as "Lucky" Duharry, the hard-boiled night club entertainer.

New Deal Has Some "Dirty Linen"

While in Washington we asked for a report on importations of pork under trade agreements and what effect the European war had on the hog market. Knowing that Poland had been shipped great quantities of cooked and cured pork before the war we found there was nothing of consequence being imported from that country in the pork line and probably would not be for some months to come. It was intimated two weeks ago that with pork importations cut off there was no reason why the price of hogs should not go up here. The increase in hog prices this week bears out earlier predictions. The lowest hog prices were back in the days Polish cured meat was being imported in competition with American hog feeders.

Americans may not approve of the German method of warfare but we witnessed a continuing procession of "interested" people in visiting a German internment ship in the Miami, Fla., harbor. Fifty German sailors were in the ship, the freighter, Arauca, when a British cruiser gave them chase in the southern harbor. The Germans had plenty of company for some 100,000 Americans made a trip to see the boat and the sailors. Only 23 of the regular crew could go ashore but all had to be on board at night. The captain was Frederick Stengler who of course could travel to Washington and New York. Several of the sailors took up the study of the English language. The crew must remain in harbor for the duration of the European war.

Uncle Sam is in the banking business in partnership with some twenty other Pan-American countries. The "big push" was staged last week in Washington at the Pan-American building, the capitol building for this group. We have never been able to find out just the purpose of this campaign in partnership with our neighbors in the banking business but like a lot of other New Deal proposals we doubt if anyone can give a good explanation. We have our money invested in this joint bank and the other twenty nations, one vote to each nation, will tell us what to do. It is a fine arrangement for these smaller nations, the most of whom owe us money now.

We must admit the Pan-American building in Washington is a very attractive structure. On the lower floor is a large court with a fountain in the center and around the room you can find planted in native setting all kinds of ferns and flowers as well as some tropical trees. We are sure our lady readers who admire orchids would go into ecstasy if they could have viewed a half hundred different kinds and colors growing as they do wild in the tropics. This bloom grows from a fungus growth that is found on trees in the south American countries. The fungus was shipped to Washington in air tight containers kept at even temperature and clumps wired to the various tropical trees in the court. No exhibit of this flower ever showed as many different colors and combinations as we were informed.

Last week we mentioned the defeat in the lower branch of Congress by a combination of Republicans and Conservative Democrats of a New Deal measure to change the status of impeachment of federal judges. It was proposed to take this power from both House and Senate and place it in the hands of three judges to be appointed by the Chief Justice. The trick of the plan which if the bill passed was to have Roosevelt remove Chief Justice Hughes, who that week celebrated his 78th birthday, and name Attorney General Jackson in his stead. Jackson is charged by both Republicans and conservative Democrats as being Communist. In fact the week previous he nullified the indictments against seventeen Detroit Communists where the evidence had been gathered by the Federal Bureau under Hoover. Many of the number were not even citizens of this country and the department had no trouble in getting indictments before a federal grand jury. It was fortunate that enough members of Congress from both political parties defeated the New Deal Communist plan.

Public Utility Service From the Man's Viewpoint

You men who either in office or shop find very little time to study management of the home, might be surprised if you took the time to observe what public utility service does for you and for your loved ones. Electricity is always at the beck and call of every member of the family. This, of course, you know, but do you know how many things electricity does for your home? One of these evenings suppose you ask the wife about it? It may prove most revealing to you. And the cost, it will interest you to know, is VERY LOW.

A Good King

By Charles Evans Lamale

"He was a good king. He did every thing he could for the people. We liked him," said a new American, who was born in Czechoslovakia and lived there until he became a young man. Francis Joseph I was his king. He was Emperor of Austria, King of Hungary, and King of Bohemia for sixty-eight years, beginning his reign as a lad of eighteen. Naturally, in so long a period of authority, a monarch of sympathetic consideration would gain a great following. So we have this tribute from one who was still young when the Hapsburg ruler died.

"But now," he continued, "Oh, it is so bad. I can hardly think about it. When I was young a Czech would live on this land and a German on the next farm; a Czech again and then a German, and so on. We all go along fine. All were good folks, but now, oh, my! Some people can stir things up."

There he stood in the door of his barn. He was at least six feet tall. He had an abundance of black hair and had heavy over-hanging eyebrows. He stood erect, and his keen black eyes seemed to raise the question, what is it all about anyhow? Why can't political leaders leave the common people alone? Shortly after the United States recognized the independence of Czechoslovakia in October, 1918, he came to America.

"Glad I came here," he said in response to the question as to whether he liked this country. "It is a great nation. Here we are free. I like my home. My children get good school education. Ah, yes, we go to church, and I got good neighbors. We don't want war for this country. We want peace all the time."

It is the honest hope of a foreign-born American. He is engaged in the peaceful business of farming. John's oldest son is working on a neighboring farm. George the second son was plowing on the family farm, and incidentally, was breaking in a colt with consummate skill. His wife also a Czech whom he first met in Pennsylvania, was working in the garden. "That's garlic in that bed. We like it," she said as a favorable comment was made on the appearance of the garden. Sophia was preparing the supper, and eight-year-old Frank was with his father in the barn. Andy was on an errand to the neighbors.

Here is peace and contentment. Every member of the family lives close to Nature. They breathe the air of freedom. They are in essential touch with the outside world. They live on an improved road. In the seclusion of their private life, they give thanks to God for the privilege of dwelling in rural America.

Of course Francis Joseph was a good ruler, and memories of the old country are precious, but for this new American the opportunities for cultural living are better on the American farm. You could not hire him to return to the old country.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Weber, Xenia, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home Wednesday when a group of relatives and friends were entertained. Mr. Weber was formerly Miss Lizzie Richards of this place, is a sister of Mr. Ted Richards of this place.

AWAY WITH TROUBLE

It seems that we always have to have our troubles. Sometimes they are not exactly real troubles at all, but nevertheless they often so appear.

However, what are we going to do concerning them? In short, what attitudes are we going to have toward adversity? Let us analyze the situation and endeavor to find a solution. There are five attitudes that we may adopt with reference to the cross currents of life, the troubles, and tribulations which beset us.

1. Is the trouble real or imaginary? Does it actually exist? We must take care that we are not bent on being on the defensive too much, and not enough on the offensive.

2. If adversity does exist, is it formidable? Are we enlarging or magnifying our troubles too greatly. It is so very easy to let obstacles grow, and that makes it difficult for us to accept defeat.

3. Are we facing the situation squarely? We find that trouble only pursues us if we flee from it. If we are to make this a better world to live in, we will have to face trials and tribulations. We must tackle the big tasks and the hard problems, else we will never make rapid advancement.

4. Are we fighting trouble? In such cases there is a positive need of fight, as all evil and despair should be fought. However, mere fighting may remove the condition, but not the cause.

5. Are we self-conquering? Let us taken an inventory of our stock of courage, moral resources, and determination. Each may be the master of his fate and the captain of his soul, through positive methods of attack and control.—E. E. KEENER

BELL SYSTEM "GOES ON AIR" MONDAY

EVENING; NATION-WIDE PROGRAM

Cedarville employees of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company are making certain that wherever they might be between 7:00 and 7:30 o'clock Ohio time next Monday evening, there will be a radio in the immediate vicinity.

A new nation-wide weekly radio program will have its premiere at that time over the red network of the National Broadcasting Company. The Bell System is "going on the air".

The greatest of care has been taken to arrange a weekly musical broadcast which will appeal to the greatest percentage of the radio-listening public," said W. M. Fryman Ohio Bell commercial manager in charge of the Cedarville exchange.

"Familiar melodies from the classics, light opera, and musical comedy will be interpreted by a special five-piece orchestra directed by Don Voorhees, a mixed chorus of 14 voices, and two soloists—James Melton, tenor, and Francis White, soprano."

The orchestra is composed of musicians selected from New York's leading concert groups. Many of them play with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the N. B. C. orchestra under Toscanini or with the Metropolitan Opera orchestra. Don Voorhees, the conductor, is equally well known to radio listeners and in the concert field.

Francis White has sung in grand opera opposite Crooks, Bonelli, Eddy, Chamlee and Pinza and for several seasons has been prima donna of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Light Opera Companies. James Melton is known to the radio-listening public as an unusually versatile tenor.

Floyd Mack, with eight years experience as a radio announcer, will introduce each musical number. The Bell System's message to the public will be handled by B. W. Anderson, who has been in more than 100 stage productions, in vaudeville, and in innumerable hometown sketches and melodrama in radio.

Radio stations in and near Ohio which will carry the program are WTAM, Cleveland; WLW, Cincinnati; WSPD, Toledo; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WWJ, Detroit; WIRE, Indianapolis, and WAVE, Louisville.

The program next Monday night will be as follows:

II Guarany Gomez
The Hills of Home Fox
All Through the Night James Melton
Welsh Folk Melody Orchestra
The Maids of Cadiz Delibes
Francis White
Stephen Foster Medley Foster
Orchestra and Chorus
O Soave Fanciulla (La Boheme) Puccini
James Melton and Francis White

ters to farmers having Federal Farm Land Bank loans in which it was broadly intimated that, unless certain legislation now before Congress was passed, farm loans of the farmers addressed might be in danger. The truth of the matter is, of course, that regardless of whether the legislation is passed or defeated the status of Federal Farm Land Bank loans now in effect will not in any way be changed. The activities of the Secretary of Agriculture and Governor Black Congressional leaders assert, are in direct violation of the law and both are being widely censured.

Don't Let an Old Corn Planter Cheat You Out of Hybrid Corn Profits

McCormick-Deering "100 Series" Planters

Handle Hybrid Seed with Unexcelled Accuracy

All around you farmers are cashing in on the advantages of hybrid corn. Men with soil no better than yours may be banking more corn profit than you are. You can do as well... but you'll need a planter that can handle hybrid seed and put the kernels where they will sprout and grow into healthy plants.

McCormick-Deering "100 Series" Planters are designed to meet this need. Your choice of flat, ridge, or hill-drop plates enables you to handle all varieties of corn. You may not be ready now to plant hybrid corn, but you surely want the planter you buy equipped to plant hybrid seed so you can make the change whenever you are ready.

The "100 Series" planters have many other features that combine to make them the full-value planters of the year. Ask us to quote you on a McCormick-Deering Planter for your use.
